

Northrop Grumman Highlights Global Security Capabilities at Singapore Airshow

February 9, 2016

SINGAPORE, Feb. 9, 2016 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Northrop Grumman Corporation (NYSE:NOC) will highlight its broad range of global security capabilities at the Singapore Airshow, Asia's largest aerospace and defence event. The biennial event is Feb. 16-21 at the Changi Exhibition Centre, near Changi Airport. Northrop Grumman's Chalet is No. CD01.

"The Asia Pacific region is extremely important to Northrop Grumman, particularly as we broaden our global focus," said Brian Kim, chief executive, Northrop Grumman Korea. "We will continue working closely with our partners in the region by providing the most advanced long-term solutions to help meet their defence and security needs."

The company's airborne surveillance and advanced situational awareness capabilities will be showcased through visual displays of unmanned helicopters and high-altitude, long-endurance unmanned aircraft systems.

Northrop Grumman's industry-leading airborne fire control radars such as a model of the company's latest active electronically scanned array (AESA) fighter radar, the APG-83 Scalable Agile Beam Radar (SABR) will be on hand at the show. SABR is a mature multifunction AESA radar that provides 5th generation radar capabilities to the F-16.

The company will showcase its C4ISR capabilities with space, air, land, sea and cyber examples. Executives will also be able to discuss Northrop Grumman's expertise in global aircraft sustainment and modernization. An exhibit featuring a center wing box restoration solution for legacy C-130 aircraft, including a 3-D immersive environment demonstration will be on display.

Northrop Grumman supports numerous defense and civil programs throughout the Asia Pacific region and has offices in Singapore, Taipei and New Delhi, as well as corporate offices in Canberra, Seoul and Tokyo. Through educational programs in science, technology, engineering and math innovation challenges, the company is also proud to inspire young minds across the region.

Northrop Grumman is a leading global security company providing innovative systems, products and solutions in unmanned systems, cyber, C4ISR, and logistics and modernization to government and commercial customers worldwide.
