In the event that the Annual Meeting is called on less than 70 days notice, the proposing stockholders must give such notice no later than the close of business on the tenth day following the date on which notice of the Annual Meeting is made or publicly disclosed, whichever first occurs. The Bylaw provision requires that a proposing stockholder include in the notice the name and address of such stockholder as well as the name and address of the person intending to be nominated. The Bylaw provision also requires that the stockholder provide sufficient information regarding the proposed nominee to satisfy the proxy requirements under the federal securities laws.
